FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE / January 3, 2017

Transitions Inc., a key organization in Northern Kentucky's fight against drug and alcohol addiction, has received CARF International Accreditation for the next three years. This accreditation is only given to behavioral health organizations that demonstrate that their treatment services, personnel and documentation clearly indicate an established pattern of conformance to CARF Standards. Transitions' Intensive Outpatient Treatment, Outpatient Treatment and Residential Treatment programs, serving adult men and women, received the CARF Accreditation. "Transitions' Board and staff take great pride in achieving this high level of accreditation," says Jim Beiting, Transitions' CEO. "We continue to use the CARF standards as part of Transitions' ongoing commitment to improving the quality of our substance use disorder treatment programs."
